Media is very important to every person as it is far more than understanding computers, but rather an understanding of how the world works. Including, how advertisements and entertainment are directed at a specific group of individuals to help sell merchandise. The goal is to learn how to decide for oneself.